1. Mind the Right Time

Right timing is the key to get everything you want from a man. You've been dropping hints all the time but why is your man not taking cue? It could be that you do it in the wrong time. He won't listen to you when he has just arrived from work and tired. Talk to him when he's relax or over dinner so that he could understand what you want.

Now that you think about it, turns out there are many ways how to get what you want from a man without asking. But you shouldn't be too childish when your man can't read the sign well.

Don't make a big deal out of it. Instead, clearly say what you want so that he can give it to you right away. First of all, it is necessary to understand the financial position of a man. This does not mean at all that you should ask a wealthy person about everything that your heart desires and not to ask an average guy for anything. It means that you have to calculate your needs and man's opportunities. Agree it is foolish to ask the wealthy person to buy a blouse found on the sale and the average guy - for a new diamond necklace.

2. Get Straight to the Point

You might be surprised that the guy may feel you don't have financial needs especially if you are a working class lady. You ought to let him know that despite that you earn some money, you still do have some needs to take care of; and you being his baby, you are depending on him to cater for some of those needs. There is nowhere else to go; unless he wants you to depend on your admirers. Please, do not make it sound like a threat but say it in a joking manner.

3. Be Yourself

Adopt the natural nature of a child and see men spend on you because of the likeness they have for you and not because they want to lure you into sex.

How do you do this? Act natural! Don't try to impress him, behave the way you'll behave in front of your females. Admire him with innocence, don't go throwing any pranks that he will misinterpret as a 'green light'. Laugh heartily and always appear happy, let your presence give him a sense of peace and happiness.

How do you achieve this? When he compliment you, don't sneer or pretend you did not hear him, don't blush also. Just simply thank him with honesty, this will make him realise that he's not the first person that is complementing you.

When he dresses nice compliment him and when you feel what he's putting on is not so great let him know, don't try to impress him! Tell him it doesn't fit him. Now you must know you have to do this with concern and honesty not arrogance, there should be a smile on your face when you let him know this. Don't go frowning like a bitch while talking to him, it will disgust him and he will tag you arrogant.

4. Act Independent

As I will always say, nothing turns a man on like an independent woman! He respects an independent woman so much even though he will never say it. Yeah! Men don't express emotions that much, but inside them, they acknowledge truth.

If you are independent and focus driven men will love to spend money on you without asking about sex because they'll feel you are just a unique lady and to win a place in your heart they'll want to invest in your dreams!

Am sure you have heard when some men say 'That girl is smart, I like her' they just like the girl and for that reason they always don't say no when she ask for assistance.

A man once told me 'You see that girl? I can send her money if she ask me for it but you see this one? Never!'

I was surprised and asked why and he said the former hardly ask for money while the latter always demands for everything. Don't be a pest girl! A girl who asks for nothing gets everything.

Don't do mistakes other babes do! Get exceptional.

5. Make him laugh

We all are freaks for amusement! Entertainment and pleasure! This is one secret the organisers of Big Brother Nigeria knows about and utilized it fully! Don't you wonder why they have so much audience even when many people feel the show promotes immorality? This is because human beings love reckless entertainment! Get creative! Learn to amuse him!

Most girls make that mistake of only allowing the guy to amuse them or they get bored. No! Turn the table towards you! Make him love and appreciate your presence by entertaining him! Do you have a good voice? Sing for him! Make him wonder how you do it! Can you dance? Entertain him!!!

Play reckless games like 'Truth or dare' with him.

Give him gist that will make him get so interested in you and when you see he's beginning to fall, flee! Give him space and watch him chase you. Why will he chase you? Because you are so active and entertaining! Your presence makes him feel at peace! You are not like every other girl.

As he's chasing you to get back your attention he'll be spending on you unconsciously not to have sex with you but to have you back as his friend!

6. Call your uncle or toasters in his pres- ence to send you money

All dudes know that no matter how much their women love them; they are still going to have other admirers around the corner. One way to put the stingy guy in the right perspective is to make demands from one of your staunch admirers in his presence. This will make him red with jealousy and probably ignite his anger. Calmly apologize and explain that you only did it because you were low on cash.

7. Teach him to spend by buying him simple gifts

The best way to teach someone something is by example. Every once in a while, do buy him a sentimental but simple gift. He will have no choice other than to reciprocate. Before then, you must have carried out the steps in topic 6

8. There are different men

There are men who simply give women what they want and there are men who need proofs what you need the money for. They may think that this is your whim or greed: "You have so many dresses, why do you need one more?" It is important not to be annoyed or offended: you have a goal – a dress. Say calmly: "Well, i understand what you're talking about. First, at the presentation where i want to go, there will be people of a decent level and if i come in such a dress everyone will think: "Well done! How beautifully he dresses his woman!" So you make him a compliment. Continue: "Secondly, i look so cool in it. And it has such a zip from behind that if I'll unzip the dress it will fall straight to the feet" and stay silent. Then the man will turn on the imagination, he will think how you will return from the presentation, the dress will fall to your feet and what may follow after this. Be sure he will buy it!

9. Thank your man

Thank sincerely: "How lucky I am, you are the best! The girls will envy me because I have such a man!. Remember that it is important for a man to realize that he is good, he is a hero and that he is important to you. Be sure to thank your boyfriend, emphasize his importance and then he will love you even more.

10. Play Your Voice Tone

Facial expressions only won't work if you don't put a sweet voice alongside it. Talk to him in a very, very nice way you can. When you're good to him, it makes him feel good so that he can easily grant any of your wish. Any guy won't say no to a sweet voice of yours.

11. Drop money wishes to his hearing

Dropping money wishes is another psychological trick. Money wishes mean saying things you would love to do assuming you had money.

Take for example when both of you are together, you could say something like;

“I wish I had money just to change my hair and look good for you.”

Then you pause and wait for a reaction. If he ends up not reacting, that doesn't mean he didn't hear the statement; you have sown a seed that would end up germinating. Just at the right time, you will reap the reward of that statement you made.

Furthermore, you could advance a step further by dropping pictures of beautiful hair made by other girls with an inscription;

“Which of these do you think would fit me?”

If he still doesn't respond, then you switch over your tactics. All these are specific ways to ask your boyfriend for money politely. A polite way of asking for money is definitely from a non-threatening position. And that is what these methods will highlight for you.

12. Drop Money Excuses

At this point, everything that is happening to you should be as a result of not having money. If your boyfriend says;

“Hey, why haven’t you called me since?”

Your response should be;

“I am kinda depressed because I am broke and don’t even have money to do my hair.”

The idea of a hairdo you’ve sown in him before would germinate at this point. He will recall you once complained about making your hair; then he will bring out the money for you.

These type of excuses are non-verbal ways to your boyfriend for money politely without being demanding. He would want to make you happy.

You must be conscious of the sequence – once there is a misstep, it comes off as manipulation. Once your boyfriend discovers he is being manipulated, that is a game over for you. I suggest you be mindful of your sequence; know where you are and where you are headed.

A combination of all these transforms a rich dude into a money bag for you to exploit. But you have to be careful not to get spoilt.

13. Use the “Give me a loan format”

Begging him to loan you money is another way to kill two birds with a stone. It allows you to demand money without being seen as a gold digger.

Your aim isn't to get the loan – rather, a manipulative way to get a lower amount without payback. So let's assume I need 100 thousand naira; to get this amount, I might decide to request a loan of 250 thousand naira or even 500 thousand naira.

Under normal circumstances, he wouldn't want to risk giving you such a massive amount as a loan (in case of a break-up). So in most cases, your boyfriend would decide to provide you with a lesser amount without an option to pay back. Amazing – isn't it?

NB: These rules work like magic only if you adhere strictly to it and practice it!

So, dear women, it is a very normal and natural process to ask men for money or any other items, because they are created to support us. If your man will be happy and will know that he is a real hero for you, believe me, he will give you money even if you do not ask him for this. If you act wise, your man will do everything to make you happy. Good luck!
